

Women For Women International

“One woman can change anything, Many women can change everything”

Women For Women International is an organization that provides help and support to women in regions where war runs rampant. Currently, Women For Women is helping improve lives in over nine countries, including Rwanda and Sudan. In the spring of 2008, Naomi Judd came to Greenville to speak on behalf of this amazing organization. Delta Omicron was there also, represented by PJ Fidler and Natalie Hamstead. Others in attendance included Kay Christian, former director of Greek Life here at East Carolina University. Natalie and PJ spent the day assisting Naomi herself with book signings and such.

“Naomi Judd’s speech was moving and inspiring. It’s very cool to know that someone so famous cares so much about helping other women and is willing to give her time to benefits like this.” - Natalie

A big congratulations to Delta Omicron advisor Missy Clark on becoming a new mom!!

Girls Camp held at Camp Albemarle

In May, Delta Omicron volunteered for the second year in a row to help out with a camp intended for underprivileged young girls. The week long retreat is held at Camp Albemarle and is headed up by Wendy Farrow. Natalie Hamstead and Gray Workman were two girls that volunteered this year. They’ve had nothing but good things to say about the week they spent with the girls, and also comment that some of the girls still call them to chat! We are all very much looking forward to helping out again next summer!

Impact & TME Boutique

At the end of June this past summer, Liz Morgan and Lauren Lambertus attended the IMPACT seminar held in Atlanta, Georgia. Not only did they have a blast and meet Alpha Delta Pi’s from chapters all over, but when they came home they brought back a bunch of new and fun ideas for the chapter!
